Charl Celliers

I am a self-taught photographer and studied photography online day in and out to prepare a studio in order to capture every special moment for our little princess Kiley. I have a passion for photographs using state of the art equipment and studio lighting to ensure perfect images. I love retouching my photographs to create a story that will capture the moment forever. Editing photographs and making each image look like a magazine advert is what I do best! I put in so many hours of editing to give my clients only the very best images possible! I believe my creative editing is what makes my photographs the best in the Province.
